PROMOTE A CREAMERY.

COURT OF HONOR FOR TROOP NO. 30.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

GRELL-BOHMFALK.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION.

The Hondo Chamber of Commerce and the Hondo Lions Club are co-operating with the farmers of this section in encouraging the establishment of a creamery in Hondo.

As announced in last week's paper, A. J. Keller, Sr., proprietor of the Creamery at 1515 S. Flores St., San Antonio, was a guest of the Hondo Lions Club at its Tuesday meeting. Mr. Keller was accompanied by his son, A. J. Keller, Jr., and a Bexar County Master Farmer, Mr. Graff, an experienced dairy creamery man, and T. Fred Jones, a Bexar County Master Farmer. These gentlemen spoke to the members of the Lions Club and a number of invited guests on the subject of dairying and creamery in general, and in Hondo in particular. They made a favorable impression on all who heard them.

Mr. Keller said if he can be properly assured of a sufficient supply of cream to justify the enterprise he would establish a plant here, capable of supplying the cream supply of the county, for seven or eight thousand dollars. He can furnish that capital himself and would not ask to sell any stock or ask for financial aid. His proposition was most cordially received by the members and guests of the Lions Club.

Unfortunately the gentlemen had to return to San Antonio after the meeting and could not remain over for the Mass Meeting at the Chamber of Commerce in the evening. This meeting was largely attended, many from quite a distance, and a great deal of interest was shown in the subject. A number of those present discussed it in a more or less informal manner and many phases of the subject were brought out.

It was the general consensus of opinion of those who spoke that the establishment of a creamery in Hondo is feasible, and offers the farmers of this section a splendid opportunity to enlarge upon their scheme of more diversified agriculture by giving them an opportunity to feed grain and feed crops on the land and find a market through the cream. The market for cream means a constant stream of cash into the channels of local business and would mean a new impetus to all kinds of local business.

One point upon which the matter is in dispute is—can a constant efficient supply of cream be assured in face of the sharp competition of business which it would have? Mr. Keller did not say how he would require or what plan he would have for the supply of cream to him. Naturally no one could answer for him, but as an expression of the people's desire to cooperate with him in the undertaking, the farmers present signed a statement of their willingness to supply when the creamery is in operation.

THURSDAY BRIDGE CLUB.

O. B. Taylor was the charming hostess to the members of the Thursday Bridge Club. Roses of various colors adorned the spacious living room where the tables were arranged. Each table had a card representing a flower and progressions were made and partners were found according to directions found inside the card. The conclusion of a number of interesting games, Mrs. Earl Starnes scored high and Mrs. T. B. Jones second for the club members. Mrs. F. H. Schweers was fortunate in securing the high guest and Mrs. E. J. Lienweber the prize for guests. Members present were Mrs. Starnes, Mrs. Bradley, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Noonan and Mrs. Convey. Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Schweers, Mrs. Volney Boon and Mrs. E. J. Lienweber.

T. E. L. CLASS.

T. E. L. Class held its monthly meeting in the home of Mrs. Will with Mrs. Ernest and Mrs. Jones as joint hostesses. Business was discussed and a social hour followed. The class drew names for a new lady, new names to be each month. Members present were Mrs. Marvin Beal, Joe Dil-ly, Hyatt, Albert Nelson, M. Ed. Meister, Jack Fussell and Moore and the hostesses.

A Court of Honor was held for the Boy Scouts of Troop No. 30 of Hondo in the basement of the Hondo Catholic School Saturday evening, April the 12th. The Court was composed of the following men: Judge R. J. Noonan, who presided over the Court, Father T. A. Flynn, J. M. Finger and H. B. Palmer, Scout Executive.

An investiture ceremony was held for the tenderfoot Scouts, those having passed the necessary requirements for a tenderfoot being Wesley Bendele and Harvey Renkin. The following Scouts appeared before the Court and were advanced to the rank of Second Class: Roy Koch, Howard Huesser, C. J. Schuehle and Robert Zerr.

Those who appeared before the Court and were advanced to the rank of First Class Scouts were Vivian Neuman, William Ney, Jr., Ralph Noonan, Jr., Clinton Jagge, Melvin Finger and Olin Koch, Edward Mechler, who became an Eagle Scout in October, 1929, was awarded the Bronze Palm.

Merit Badges were awarded to the following Scouts:

Ralph Noonan; Personal Health, Firemanship, Pathfinding and Horsemanship. William Ney, Jr.; Carpentry, Firemanship, Pathfinding, Horsemanship and Personal Health. Melvin Finger; Firemanship, Pathfinding and Personal Health. Clinton Jagge; Personal Health, Horsemanship, Firemanship and Carpentry. Vivian Neuman; Firemanship. Edward Mechler; Agriculture, Reptile Study, Carpentry and Horsemanship.

Troop No. 30 is making a record that Southwest Texas Council is proud of, in that the Scouts of this troop are not contented to stand still but are making a splendid record of advancement. Scoutmaster P. C. Jagge and his assistant, Mr. Lawrence Brucks, as well as the interested mothers of these fine boys, are to be commended for the encouragement and help which they give to this group of Scouts. It is because of their interest and encouragement that these boys were able to make such a splendid showing at this Court of Honor Saturday night.

MEDINA COUNTY COUNCIL TO MEET HERE.

Elsewhere is published the program for the Fourth Regular Meeting for the year of the Medina County Council which meets here Friday, April 25.

It will be noted that in addition to an attractive array of home and local talent, there will be several features by invited guests.

Mrs. Lula Griesbeck, Supervisor of Music of San Antonio Public Schools, will have an instructive message on this important feature of public school work.

Rural Consolidation for High School Purposes by Prof. Barron of Pearsall will be from an authoritative source because backed up by experience.

And Dr. Woodson is an authority on the subject of psychology whose address will no doubt prove valuable to all who hear it.

All who can should avail themselves of the opportunity to attend this meeting.

TUBERCULIN TESTED.

Mr. R. M. Dayhoff informs us that he has just had his dairy herd tested by a competent authority for bovine tuberculosis. Of the entire herd of 37 head there was not a single unfavorable reaction to the test, not even a single suspicious case, and all were passed as being free. This is a good showing for Mr. Dayhoff's herd.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that in his remarks before the Mass Meeting Tuesday night, County Agent C. M. Merritt stated that in all of the tuberculin tests so far made in Medina County no animal native to the county has ever shown any trace of the disease. A few importations have, but evidently the disease has never yet been communicated to native stock.

This is a happy condition that dairyman can not guard too zealously.

WHEN TO ADVERTISE.

(From the News and Observer.)

Some business men quit advertising when there come a temporary depression, either caused by stock market crashes or low prices for crops. Not so the wise business man. One of Raleigh's most successful merchants in another era said: "I double my advertising when trade slacks up because it is more difficult to attract customers than in flush times."

That is the feeling of the 240 members of the National Advertisers, who spent a total of $186,000,000 last year in advertising and will increase it to $206,000,000 for 1930. They see the need of stimulating buying and know the way to do it. It is the successful merchant who never lets depression cause him to slow down.

A private letter from H. F. Wurzbach brings us the information that he has been transferred from Atascosa County to Travis County to finish up the tick eradication work in that county. Mr. Wurzbach started off systematic eradication work in Atascosa and Live Oak Counties and now the Commission has changed places, sending the former Travis County man to succeed Mr. Wurzbach there. Mr. Wurzbach's address is 209 Brugerhoff Building, Austin, Texas.

Last Sunday afternoon Dr. Robert A. Hasskarl and his sister, Mrs. H. G. Simmons, of Brenham unexpectedly dropped in at the Lutheran Parsonage at Quilhi to visit with their parents, Rev. and Mrs. C. P. Hasskarl. After spending a pleasant evening and night here, they returned again to their homes in Brenham Monday.

One of the first pretty Spring weddings was solemnized Wednesday at 3 o'clock at the New Fountain M. E. Church, when Miss Hulda Frieda Bohmfalk, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Bohmfalk of Hondo, became the bride of Mr. Arthur Grell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grell of New Fountain. Preceding the ceremony Mrs. Clarence Muennink sang "I Love You Truly." The bride party entered to the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, in the following order: the bride's maids, Miss Irene Schulte, in pink georgette carrying roses and Miss Alma Grell, in orchid georgette with flowers to match; the maid of honor, Miss Urna Wiemers, cousin of the bride, wearing blue georgette and carrying yellow roses; the ring bearer, little Miss Stella Mae Grell, dainty in pink crepe de Chine, carrying a basket of roses; the bride, entering on the arm of her father, who gave her away in marriage, was charming in white georgette and tulle veil and carrying an arm bouquet of white roses and fern. The groom with his brother, Mr. Edwin Grell, as best man, met the bride at the foot of an altar, which was a beautiful mass of white Easter lilies and fern. The impressive ring ceremony was used, Rev. E. Dechert, pastor of the New Fountain M. E. Church, officiating. Throughout the ceremony soft music filled the church. The groomsmen were Mr. Herman Hardt and Mr. Watler Grell, brother of the groom. They wore the conventional blue.

After the ceremony, a dinner and reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for the bridal party, immediate families of the newly wedded pair. Out of town guests were Rev. and Mrs. Hasskarl of Quilhi, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bohmfalk and children of Yancey and Mrs. Milton Jourdan, sister of the bride, of Mason.

The happy couple will make their home in Hondo, where the groom is engaged in business with the Hondo Bottling Co. This paper joins with the many friends of the bridal pair in wishing them a long and prosperous married life.

TWO BALL GAMES; FREE BARBECUE, DANCE MARK START OF LOCAL SEASON

Fair Grounds Scene of Big Opening Day Celebrations of Hondo Team Monday

By Kooter MacGrail

Two baseball games, free barbecue and a dance will mark the opening of the local baseball season for Hondo Monday, April 21, at the Fair Grounds. Local stores will be closed and a large attendance is expected at the celebration.

The first game will be called at 2:00 P. M. and the Married Men will meet the Bachelors in the fourth match of their series. The Henpeckeds are out to win this tussel and make the count two-all in games. The Free Gents having captured the game played Wednesday evening now have a two to one edge in the series.

The second game will find the D'Hanis Pirates in action. It is not definite whether their opponents will be the Castroville Indians or the Hondo Town Team. Castroville is trying to assemble a team to play the Pirates, but is having trouble securing men as most of the Indians have to work Monday.

Free barbecue will be served the attendants of the games. The goats having been secured from a fund raised by local fans, merchants and boosters.

To bring the day to a fitting close a dance will be held Monday night at the Hondo Fair Grounds with plenty of good music.

It will prove to be a lifelong blessing to all who attend. Announcements for this class should be made to the pastor as soon as possible.

Last Sunday night the Quihi Lutheran League rendered a splendid program of musical, literary and oratorical numbers at Bethlehem Lutheran church to a capacity and appreciative audience. With Mrs. Henry Schuehle presiding at the piano in her accustomed efficient manner and Mr. Edwin Grell directing the church choir rendered several fine selections. Several interesting and instructive readings and a striking declamation by Mrs. Andrew Schweers were greatly enjoyed by all present, as were also the fine musical selections by leaguers and an impressive rendition by the well trained voices of the Quihi Male Choir. An unexpected number on the program was a very interesting and timely talk by Dr. Robert A. Hasskarl of Brenham. In well chosen words he expressed his surprise in finding such a nice and well appointed and equipped church in the country. After having complimented the League and the church choir for the prompt and efficient manner in which they rendered the respective numbers on the program finding here so much excellent well trained musical and literary talent, something not found in many country churches. In closing he complimented the Quihites for having placed a memorial tablet in the church in memory of the brave Texan boys who in the dark days of the World War assembled, like he himself and many others, under the stars and stripes to serve, and if necessary to die in the defence of their native land.

An instance of the precision manufacturing methods employed by Chevrolet Motor Company is seen in a statement today that 5,102 separate inspections enter into the building of every motor for a Chevrolet car. So insistent is the company's accuracy in both materials and workmanship that one man in six at the giant Chevrolet Motor plant at Flint, Michigan, is an inspector.

She Lost 19 Pounds of Fat in 27 Days

During October a woman in Montana wrote—"My first bottle of Kruschen Salts lasted almost 4 weeks during that time I lost 19 pounds of fat—Kruschen is all you claim for—I feel better than I have years."

Here's the recipe that banishes and brings into blossom all the natural attractiveness that every woman possesses.

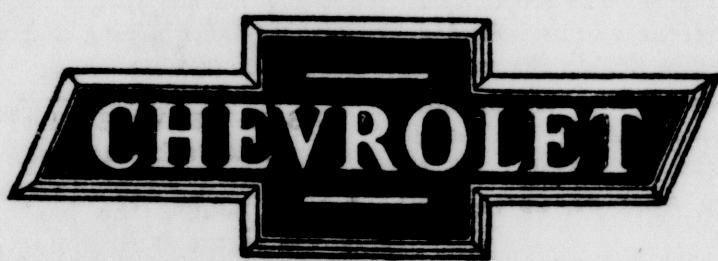

Every morning take one half spoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast.

Be sure and do this every morning for "it's the little daily dose that takes off the fat." Don't miss a morning. The Kruschen habit matters that very particle of poisonous matter and harmful acids and are expelled from the system.

At the same time the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels are kept up and the pure, fresh blood containing Nature's six life-giving elements is carried to every organ, nerve and fibre of the body and is followed by "that Kruschen feeling" of energetic health and activity that is reflected in bright eyes, clear skin, cheerful vivacity and charming figure.

If you want to lose fat with speed get an 85c bottle of Kruschen Salts from W. H. Windrow or any druggist anywhere in America. The distinct understanding that you must be satisfied with results or money back.

for Economical Transportation

it's wise to choose a SIX!

There is one sure way to get greater value in a low-priced car today—Choose a Six!

This greater value is instantly obvious when you drive a Chevrolet Six. You notice first of all its greater smoothness. There is no tremor in the steering wheel—no rattle in the floor boards—no rumble or drumming in the body.

In addition to the finer performance of its six-cylinder motor, the new Chevrolet gives you truly remarkable economy.

Its six-cylinder smoothness saves the entire car from the strain and wear of vibration. This, of course, lowers the cost of maintenance and assures a longer-lasting, longer-satisfying automobile.

From the standpoint of operating expense, Chevrolet is equally economical. No other automobile consumes less gasoline and oil. No other shows a lower expense for tires. And no other car costs less for service. Because of its modern engineering, Chevrolet also assures a high resale value.

Chevrolet gives you fully-enclosed, weather-proof, 4-wheel brakes; a modern fuel system—with the gasoline tank mounted in the rear; four long semi-elliptic springs, mounted lengthwise in the direction of car travel. It gives you beautiful Fisher bodies built of combination hardwood-and-steel. It gives you a heavy, rigidly-braced channel-steel frame. And it gives you a full ball bearing steering mechanism.

Before you decide on any car in the low-price field, see and drive the Chevrolet Six. The more thoroughly you investigate, the more certain you are to conclude that it's wise to choose a Six—for value, for performance . . . and for economical transportation!

Course of Study in Successful Poultry Keeping is offered to all who are working earnestly to earn a good livelihood and to substantially increase their profits from their poultry flocks. The secret of greater success and more profit is in knowing what to do and when and how to do it. TEXAS AND TEXANS

TEXAS AND TEXANS.

By Will H. Mayer.

All Texans for All Texas?
 A secondary problem compromise should be evident to an unbiased observer that the Texas legislature will agree to remove the main penitentiary to a "point near Austin," a leading argument for a near-by location is that it would free the state from the burden of maintaining and where the production of the system could easily and be distributed to other State institutions.

San Antonio is only about 130 miles from Austin, 65 from Dallas. Gov. Moody favors relieving conditions by using a prison force in road building. Not compromise now by spending much of the present appropriation for building a modern industrial plant at Austin, and with the co-operation of the Highway Commission, using labor to construct first-class roads from Huntsville to Austin and from Dallas to Houston is a good idea.

San Antonio is only about an hour from Austin, can thus be reached in about three and a half hours over good roads and a half hour from Dallas over roads by bus and truck, many of the towns and a large rural population would be at least temporarily helped. Huntsville would be a fine place for a penitentiary, and a fine road would be made in converting a prison into a modern plant at least expense.

County Diversification
 In Nueces county, with 18 bales, leads the State, and the world, in cotton production. Newspapers are not especially of the record and are showing diversification, evidence of which is now seen on every hand. Cotton alone has shipped over 100,000 bales this season, reaching as high as 75 cars a day. From Odessa a solid trainload of 17 railcars, and said to be the largest shipment of radishes made, recently went North, having been concentrated at Bishop, and Robstown.

Valley Vegetables.
 The evidence of the Lower Rio Valley has disappeared. The publicity of that section around citrus fruits, the delight to the eye, but just railroad vegetable shipments, during the season into many railcars, are making business and prosperity evident in the valley.

Home-seekers Visit Texas
 Approximately 12,500 prospective home-seekers, according to railroad records, have visited South Texas in the first three months of the year, and probably as many have gone there in buses and cars. This shows that Texas is attracting greater attention than before. All of the State is sharing this influx of people from the States.

Maine Potato Growers
 A railroad of Maine potato growers, accompanied by the Governor, and with then samples of native "spuds," came to Texas last week in April primarily to see the potato products, but they were in such striking contrast to those of Maine that Texas will number of them as permanent residents. Wisconsin dairymen recently came to Texas to show what that State is doing in the dairy industry, but being that a number of them are arranged to do their dairy work in Texas future. Northern Texas weather and Texas

Highway Co-Operation
 It is hard for a single town or county to put over a highway program unaided by the State. Highways are not planned for a single precinct or county, but to lead from one definite point to another in a way to serve the people. Where a road is designed and built, people all along the line must hold meetings, plan and routes, and together unitedly to accomplish the purpose. Where this is being done, results are being obtained. This is a co-operative age, and it is to be done in a co-operative effort. All Texans are building up all Texas.

Hotels Are Necessary
 A town without ample and comfortable hotel facilities is out of the picture. Tourists and business men avoid such towns. Occasionally they get caught in them at night unable to get accommodations, and forced to move on to some other place.

Can you imagine the feeling of auto travelers overtaken at night in such a place, when they have to leave in the rain over unfamiliar and muddy roads for another town some 40 miles away? This was the luck of at least a dozen motorists in an otherwise fine Texas town not more than two weeks ago. That town—and there are others—should get actively to work to secure a modern hotel large enough for its present and prospective trade.

Henderson Bank Organized
 When the Farmers and Merchants' National Bank at Henderson closed its doors the latter part of February, business there received a temporary shock, but it didn't last long. Within a month a new bank organization was formed with Judge Charles L. Brachfield as its head and the new Citizens' National Bank announces it has taken over all the assets and will pay all the liabilities of the closed bank. Not a depositor in the old bank has withdrawn his account and many new deposits are being made. That is the spirit that makes Henderson the splendid little city it is.

Freeze Gets Tomatoes
 The recent freeze around Jacksonville, Nacodoches and other East Texas points destroyed from 25 to 75 per cent of the tomatoes that had been set out. Some will not be replanted, but all available plants will be put out, and the hopeful tomato growers of East Texas say they will get larger prices because of the decreased acreage. A little cold snap doesn't discourage a modern East Texas farmer for any great time.

Uvalde Airport
 Private interests have acquired 500 acres for an airport site at Uvalde, said to be admirably adapted to the purpose. A flying school will be established in connection with the airplane landing field. Del Rio and Eagle Pass, nearby, will also have flying schools and regular air services will be maintained between the three enterprising West Texas cities.

Patronize Home Folks
 I know a nice little Texas city that has recently lost two families because local groceries, that depend on local patronage for their support, are selling bread baked in nearby cities rather than buy it at the same price from either of the two home bakeries, that make as good bread as the city bakeries. Bad isn't it, that some merchants expect everybody except themselves to help build up a town, while they feel privileged to tear it down?

"Local-Mindedness"
 Coining a term to fit, some Texas towns are almost wholly "local-minded," which means about the same thing as narrow or self-centered when applied to individuals. These have acquired such a localized vision that they do not see beyond their own horizons. A person may become so accustomed to his run-down cabin that all desire for a better home is lost. A people can grow so used to their local surroundings that they lose all desire for anything better.

Texans need a greater sense of "state-mindedness" of a kind that has made California and Florida famous. As leaders of public thought, local newspapers can arouse and maintain this spirit. Towns and communities seldom think or act ahead of the local press. A united effort of the Texas press, a State-wide synchronization, is necessary for the greatest progress of the state. This "Texas and Texans" feature is a part of this paper's contribution to that effort.

The Centennial Movement
 Six years is a short time in which to accomplish a really great work. The year 1930 will make a century in the independence of Texas, a 100 years of the most notable progress ever made by a people. As yet little or nothing has been done looking to a proper celebration or to awaken the public mind to its importance. To delay action much longer would be unpardonable on the part of those to whom this important matter is entrusted. Legislators must be elected who will give their unqualified support to the movement; the people of the state must be aroused by intensive publicity in which the whole press must heartily unite; outside interests must be enlisted; vast projects, educational and entertaining, must be erected and grounds made beautiful; exhibits commensurate with the State's growth, its present wealth and its future prospects, must be assembled and arranged. There is a great work ahead and all too little time in which to do it right.

Flower-Lined Roads
 Northern tourists visiting Texas at this time of the year find the flower-lined railroads and highways a source of constant delight and surprises. The impressions made by these flowers upon those coming directly from the cold north can hardly be imagined by those of us who have lived so long among the Texas flowers. But even the Texas tourist is often thrilled by the beauty of the flower-lined lanes of the state. Just now there are hundreds of miles of highways bordered with primroses, blue-bonnets, verbenas, phlox and many other native flowers and in many places roadside fields and pastures are carpeted with solid beds of flowers of all shades. Civic clubs can do no better work, at so little cost, than seeing that every country roadway is kept lined with the wild flowers of Texas.

Prosperity in Evidence
 The Colorado-Llano river sections around Bertram, Burnet, Marble Falls and Llano, are already showing evidence of the prosperity that will increase rapidly with the beginning of actual work on the dams, six of which are to be built. The company that will build the dams is busily buying flowage right and drilling tests for the dams. Lands that will be overflowed, on which options are held, are being bought outright and the owners are buying other nearby lands. Machinery is being placed for a $250,000 gauge factory in the old mill building at Marble Falls. Plans are under way for increasing the granite output in Burnet and Llano counties. The great lake, to extend for 35 miles along the river will be the largest artificial lake in the country. Health resorts and lakeside homes will be built along its banks among the hundreds of beautiful hills that give pleasing variety to the scenery. Texas is indeed a wonderful state to those who know their Texas.

Presidio to Mexico
 Work on the Santa Fe expansion to Presidio will probably be completed by October 1, thus opening another gateway to Mexico, and giving an outlet to the north for the rich products of that section. The country about Presidio is especially rich in minerals and has immense stores of marble and granite—enough to supply the entire country for centuries. Presidio seems destined to become an important port of entry and a city of size and wealth. Tourists find the beauty of the scenery of the entire "Big Bend" section unsurpassed by any other mountainous country.

Big Texas Cavern
 A large cavern, recently discovered in San Saba county, near Richland Springs, is being explored. Its proportions have not yet been determined, but it is known to contain stalactite and stalagmite formations of great beauty, with figures in them as unusual and grotesque as any found in Carlsbad Cavern. The explorers hope to be able soon to determine the size of this cavern and that it may be a kind to attract many visitors.

Showing the Way
 E. C. Caldwell, an Odessa farmer, who has been planting vegetables on a large scale since 1925, has recently gathered 800 acres of radishes and 600 acres of beets on a 1,400 acre farm, and the same land is now planted to cotton and other crops. He was comparatively poor a few years ago, but by applying intelligent methods of diversified vegetable growing and farming is now worth a quarter of a million dollars. Other growers may not be able to plant and market on so large a scale, but by combining their acreage and co-operating in marketing it is possible for others to do proportionately as well as Mr. Caldwell has done.

Non-Cotton Farming
 Dr. A. W. Odell has an 1,800 acre farm near Goliad on which he is growing pretty much everything except cotton, using modern electric motor power and gasoline operated tractors, having only one team of mules and one horse on the place. He has beef and milk cattle, turkeys, chickens and hogs on the place, and grows feedstuffs of all kinds for these, and is cultivating all the vegetables adaptable to that climate. He doesn't expect to sell anything off the place except livestock, dairy products and vegetables, and is demonstrating that electric and gasoline equipped machinery can be most successfully and economically used in Texas farming. The experiment is being watched with much interest, for if it proves profitable on an 1,800-acre farm it should pay equally well on a 100-acre place.

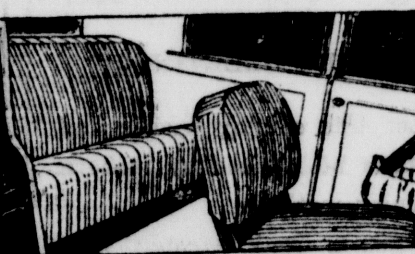

Planting Orchards
 Fifty farm orchards have been planted this year in Young county under the direction of the county home demonstration agent. An agent who can secure such results is worth her salary to any county.

"Let George Do It"
 The Mason News reports that a Mason business man who buys his stationery from out of town and uses envelopes from the Government Printing Office had the temerity to urge the News to get behind a local project "and boost it or else it will die out." How long would it take enough men of that kind to kill Mason or any other town?

Co-Operation With a Vim?
 An El Campo business concern advertised that there are three bakeries, one creamery and one feed milling company in El Campo, yet some "co-operative merchants" are buying these products out of Houston. Some people are just "queer," aren't they?

Going After Results
 Wilson county has a county farm agent who has been sponsoring the planting of black-eyed peas in the county, the result being that contracts have been made for the plant-

THE RESPONSIBILITIES OF LIBERTY.

There is a noble passage in the writings of William McKinley in which the martyred President uses these prophetic words: "Liberty to make our own laws does not give us license to break them. Liberty is responsibility and responsibility is duty; and that duty is to preserve the exceptional liberty we enjoy within the law and for the law and by the law."

Those words might well have been written for these days of lawlessness. They are true, however, for all times and all persons. The psalmist knew himself to be at liberty only when he was obedient to God's laws. The Christian knows that only Christ's truth, and the observance of it, can make him free. No more arant nonsense is talked today than the ceaseless chatter about a "personal liberty" which means only personal license to get drunk and make others drunk. No one is free to do wrong; every one is free to do the right. "I shall walk at liberty; for I have sought Thy precepts."

Messrs. Raymond Nester and Joe Finger, who are attending St. Edwards University at Austin, are visiting their parents at D'Hanis over the Easter holidays.

Mr. Clark Tondre of San Antonio was a Hondo visitor Saturday.

Russell Speece was a business visitor to San Antonio last Saturday.

Ralph De Montel spent the week-end in San Antonio on business and pleasure.

Victor Murray spent last week-end in San Antonio visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Murray.

Messrs. G. R. Hans, J. F. Schott and J. T. Lawler of Castroville were here Tuesday in the interest of a baseball league which they are trying to organize. From here they went to D'Hanis, Sabinal and Uvalde. All of these places seem to be interested in this plan, which is to form a 5-team league with a team from Castroville, Hondo, Uvalde, Sabinal and D'Hanis. This league, if formed, should create considerable interest as no team will be allowed to use paid players and must use home talent.

Would you say Dr. Daniel A. Poling or S. Parkes Cadman is the most popular speaker on the radio? We don't know—the National Broadcasting Company who broadcast both of these distinguished gentlemen every Sunday afternoon refuse to tell us. But we know millions, literally millions listen to them every week on the air. It is of no importance to us which is the most popular on the air—they both contribute regularly to the new Christian Herald—Dr. Daniel A. Poling is Editor-in-Chief and Dr. S. Parkes Cadman is the chief contributing editor for the new—and enlarged—Christian Herald.

Christian Herald is for men and women of all denominations. You know Dr. Poling is Dutch Reform, Dr. Cadman Congregational and Stanley High, our Editor, is Methodist. And Dr. Poling and Stanley High have surrounded themselves with a staff of writers that come from all denominations—but they don't write on denominational matters. There is an adequate press for carrying the denominational news—Christian Herald is a magazine for people interested in religion and church matters in their wider application—it is the church paper universal. FAMILY GAS HEATER IS FOUND SOURCE OF STIMULATING AND INVISIBLE HEALTH RAYS.

ATLANTA, April 11.—(AP)—The family gas heater as a possible source of invisible health rays was introduced to the American Chemical society.

The rays sought from this type of "stove" are the latest and least known in light treatment, the infrared beams, too long to be visible, but too short to be actual heat.

Their effects are less known than the ultra-violet or sunburn rays. At Cornell university where students receive ultra-violet light as a protection against cold, the girls take also the red rays as a protection against possible anemic condition. At the Mayo clinic at Rochester, Minn., Dr. Charles Sheard is studying the effects of infra-red rays on the growth of chicks.

In reporting the "stove" experiment Dr. F. E. Vandaveer, supervisor of the American Gas association testing laboratory at Cleveland, said British scientists report finding the red rays are stimulating. He told the chemists that only the preliminary scientific work of developing more radiation from the heaters has been done. In this increased radiation, he said, he believes the infra-red rays will be found, but the second stage

ZEN of the Y.D.

A Novel of the Foothills

By ROBERT STEAD

"The Cow Puncher"—"The Homesteaders"—"Neighbors," etc.

"Beat it to town on that Pete-horse of yours, George," he said. "Burn the grass on the road."

"I bet I'll be ten miles on the road back when I meet my shadow goin'," said Drask, making a spectacular leap into his saddle. "By, Y.D.; 'By, Zen!" he shouted while he whirled his horse's head eastward and waved his hand to where they stood. In spite of her annoyance at him she had to smile and return his salute.

"Mr. Drask is irrepressible," she remarked to Transley.

"And irresponsible," the contractor returned. "I sometimes wonder why I keep him. In fact, I don't really keep him; he just stays. Every spring he hunts me up and fastens on. Still,

"By, Y.D.; 'By, Zen!"

I get a lot of good service out of him. Praise that Pete-horse, and George would ride his head off for you. He has a weakness for wanting to marry every woman he sees, but his infatuations seem harmless enough."

"I know something of his weakness," Zen replied. "I have already been honored with a proposal."

Transley looked in her face. It was slightly flushed, whether with the summer sun or with her confession, but it was a wonderfully good face to look in.

"Zen," he said, in a low voice that Y.D. and the others might not hear, "how would you take a serious proposal, made seriously by one who loves you, and who knows that you are, and always will be, a queen among women?"

"If you had been a cow puncher instead of a contractor," she told him. "I'm sure you would long ago have ended your life in some dash over a cutbank."

Meanwhile Drask pursued his way to town. The trail, after crossing the ford, turned abruptly to the right from that which led across country to the North Y.D. For a mile or more it skirted the stream in a park-like drive through groves of spruce and cottonwood. Sunshine and the babble of water everywhere filled the air. Sunshine, too, filled George Drask's heart. The importance of his mission was pleasantly heavy upon him. He pictured the impression he would make in town, galloping in with his horse wet over the back, and rushing to the implement agency with all the importance of a courier from Y.D. He would let two of the boys take Pete to the stable, and then, seated on a mower seat in the shade, he would tell the story. It would lose nothing in the telling. He would even add how Zen had thrown a kiss at him in parting. Perhaps he would have Zen kiss him on the cheek before the whole camp. He turned that possibility over in his mind, weighing nicely the credulity of his imaginary audience. At any rate, whether he decided to put that in the story or not, it was very pleasant to think about.

Presently the trail turned abruptly up a gully leading into the hills. A huge cutbank, jutting into the river, barred the way in front, and its precipitous side, a hundred feet or more in height, kept continually crumbling and falling into the stream. These cutbanks are a terror to inexperienced riders. The valleys are swallowed up in the tawny sameness of the ranges; the vision catches only the higher levels, and one may gallop to the verge of a precipice before becoming aware of its existence. It was to this that Zen had referred in speaking of Transley's precipitateness.

Drask followed the gully up into the hills, letting his horse drop back to a walk in the hard going along the dry bed of a stream which flowed only in the spring freshets. Pete had to pick his way over boulders and across stretches of sand and boggy patches of black mud formed by little springs leaking out under clumps of willows. Here and there the white ribs of a steer's skeleton peered through the brush; once or twice an overpowering stench gave notice of a carcass not wholly decomposed.

It was not a pleasant environment, but in an hour Drask was out again on the brow of the brown hills, where the sunshine flooded about and a fresh breeze beat up against his face. After all his winding in the gully he was not more than a mile from the cutbank.

"I reckon I could get a great view from that cutbank of what Landson is doin'," he suddenly remarked to himself. He took off his hat and scratched his tousled head in reflection. "Linder said to beat it," he ruminated, "but I can't get back tonight anyway, an' it might be worth while to do a little scoutin'. Here goes!"

He struck a smart gallop to the southward, and brought his horse up, spectacularly, a yard from the edge of the precipice. The view which his position commanded was superb. Up the valley lay the white tents of Transley's outfit, almost hidden in green foliage; the ford across the river was distinctly visible, and stretching south from it lay, like a great curving snake, the trail which wound across the valley and lost itself in the foothills far to the south; across the western horizon hung the purple curtain of the mountains, soft and vague in their noonday mists, but touched with settings of ivory where the snow fields beat back the blazing sunshine; far down the valley was the gleam of Landson's whitewashed buildings, and nearer at hand the greenish-brown of the upland meadows which his hay-makers had already cleared of their crop of prairie wool. This was now arising in enormous stacks; it must have been three miles to where they lay, but Drask's keen eyes could distinguish ten completed stacks and two others in course of building. He could even see the sweeps hauling the new hay, after only a few hours of sundrying, and sliding it up the inclined platform which dumped it into the form of stacks. The foothill rancher makes hay by horse power, and almost without the aid of a pitchfork. Even as Drask watched he saw a load skidded up; saw its apparent momentary poise in air; saw the well-trained horses stop and turn and start back to the meadow with their sweep. And up the valley Transley's outfit was at a standstill.

Drask employed his limited but expressive vocabulary. It was against all human nature to look on such a scene unmoved. He recalled Y.D.'s half-spoken wish about a random cigar. Then suddenly George Drask's mouth dropped open and his eyes rounded with a great idea.

Of course it was against all the rules of the range—it was outlaw business—but what about driving iron stakes in a hay meadow? Drask's philosophy was that the end justifies the means. And if the end would win the approval of Y.D.—and of Y.D.'s daughter—then any means was justified. Had not Linder said, "Burn the grass on the road?" Drask knew well enough that Linder's remark was a figure of speech, but his eccentric mind found no trouble in converting it into literal instructions.

Drask sniffed the air and looked at the sun. A soft breeze was moving slowly up the valley; the sun was just past noon. There was every reason to expect that as the lowland prairies grew hot with the afternoon sunshine a breeze would come down out of the mountains to occupy the area of great atmospheric expansion. Drask knew nothing about the theory of the thing; all that concerned him was the fact that by mid-afternoon the wind would probably change to the west.

Two miles down the valley he found a gully which gave access to the water's edge. He descended, located a ford, and crossed. There were cattle trails through the cottonwoods; he might have followed them, but he feared the telltale shoe-prints. He selected the more difficult route down the stream itself. The South Y.D. ran mostly on a wide gravel bottom; it was possible to pick out a course which kept Pete in water seldom higher than his knees. An hour of this, and Drask, peering through the trees, could see the nearest of Landson's stacks not half a mile away. The Landson gang were working farther down the valley, and the stack itself covered approach from the river.

Drask slipped from the saddle and stole quietly into the open. The breeze was now coming down the valley.

CHAPTER V

Transley's men had repaired such machines as they could and returned to work. The clatter of mowing machines filled the valley; the horses were speeded up to recover lost time. Transley and Y.D. rode about, carefully scrutinizing the short grass for iron stakes, and keeping a general eye on operations.

Suddenly Transley sat bolt-still on his horse. Then, in a low voice: "Y.D.!" he said.

The rancher turned and followed the line of Transley's vision. The nearest of Landson's stacks was ablaze, and a great pillar of smoke was rolling skyward. Even as they watched, the base of the fire seemed to spread; then, in a moment, tongues of flame were seen leaping from a stack farther on.

"Looks like your prayers were answered, Y.D.," said Transley. "I bet they haven't a plow nearer than the ranch."

Y.D. seemed fascinated by the sight. He could not take his eyes off it. He drew a cigar from his pocket and thrust it far into his mouth, chewing it savagely and rolling it in his lips, but, according to the law of the hayfield, refraining from lighting it. At first there was a gleam of vengeance in his eyes, but presently that gave way to a sort of horror. Every honorable tradition of the range demanded that he enlist his force against the common enemy.

"H—I, Transley!" he ejaculated. "We can't sit and look at that! Order the men out! What have we got to fight with?"

For answer Transley swung round in his saddle and struck his palm into Y.D.'s.

"Good boy, Y.D.!" he said. "I did you an injustice—I mean, about your prayers being answered. We haven't as much as a plow, either, but we can gallop down with some barrels in a wagon and put a sack brigade to work. I'm afraid it won't save Landson's hay, but it will show where our hearts are."

Transley and Y.D. galloped off to round up the men, some of whom had already noticed the fire. Transley dispatched four men and two teams to take barrels, sacks and horse blankets to the Landson meadows. The others he sent off at once on horseback to give what help they could.

Zen rode up just as they left, and her fine horse seemed to realize the tension in the air. His keen, hard-strung muscles quivered as she brought his gallop to a stop.

"How did it start, Dad?" she demanded.

"How do I know?" he returned, shortly. "I'd think I fired it!"

"No, but I just asked the question that Landson will ask, so you better have your answer handy. I'm going to gallop down to their ranch; perhaps I can help Mrs. Landson."

LOOKING INTO REAL ESTATE.

The juvenile delinquent, that tragic little figure brought before the courts of justice at an early age, who often develops into an adult criminal, seldom comes from an owned home, according to two famous judges in two widely separated cities.

The experience of Judge Francis, B. Allegretti of Chicago and Judge S. D. Murphy of Birmingham, Ala., with the home environment of bad boys and girls is related by the National Association of Real Estate Boards in the 74th of its series of stories for the public.

Good children certainly can be raised in rented quarters, says the association, but it is interesting to note that the records of two cities show the majority of juvenile delinquents have not been exposed to the owned-home influence.

"Of course the largest per cent of boys who come before me, come from homes that are not owned by their parents," says Judge Allegretti, presiding over the boys' court in Chicago.

Home Means Parent Interest
"Home ownership on the part of more parents would stimulate parental care and attention and reduce offenses among juveniles causes, by far, the greater number of delinquencies among our youth."

"In these days of the room-and-a-half apartments, in these days when the bed and the chest of drawers come out of the wall at the push of a button, we surely need a campaign which will bring to parents the realization that children cannot be properly reared in cramped quarters."

"There cannot be an atmosphere of love, devotion, loyalty and obedience in a residence where privacy is almost out of the question and room is at a premium."

"The home keeps the family together; as the nest keeps the birdlings together; and the pride that goes with the ownership of the home is the spirit that builds loyalty and gives rise to that lofty feeling toward our country that we call patriotism."

"The pioneers suffered privation and untold suffering to build and protect their homes; we are prone to commercialize the home."

"But when a father owns his home he finds more time to spend with it, keep it in order, and in repair, he takes pride in seeing it look better than his neighbor's. Mother spends more time in it too; what is really drudgery in a place not her own seems pleasant to her under her own roof.

And both parents, if they take pride in the material appearance of their home, will surely spend more time with the children for whom they are keeping the home."

Eighty-seven per cent of the young delinquents of Jefferson County, Alabama, come from habitats that do not belong to their parents, according to Judge S. D. Murphy, who for 20 years has sat on the juvenile and domestic relations court in Birmingham.

Interested in this phase of the young offender, Judge Murphy for many years has kept records as to the living conditions surrounding children brought before him. His figures, covering girls as well as boys, show that only 13 per cent of the juvenile delinquents from the entire county come from owned homes.

Develops Good Qualities
Behind home ownership are some of the most desirable human qualities. Love, ambition and thrift are fostered in the act of buying, or building or paying for a home. Personal and civic pride come to the home owner.

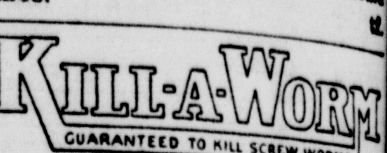

WHEN damp days, sudden changes in weather, or exposure to a draft makes joints ache, there is always quick relief in Bayer Aspirin. It makes short work of headaches or any little pain. Just as effective in the more serious suffering from neuralgia, neuritis, rheumatism or lumbago. No ache or pain is ever too deep-seated for Bayer Aspirin to relieve, and it does not affect the heart. All druggists, with proven directions for various uses which many people have found invaluable in the relief of pain.

These are the qualities that mothers and fathers throughout the land hope to instill in their children. There is no better way to dramatize the habit of saving, than to bring up children in homes of their own. Home ownership makes it possible for thousands of families to give their children air and sunlight and taking such families out into the suburbs.

The child who must play on the city streets may be more apt to meet up with gangs, he may be more susceptible to activities that end in delinquency than the child who can expend his energies out in the open spaces.

HEGEMANN'S INVITES YOU.

The Hegemann Studio, whose business card appears elsewhere in this paper, was established about 30 years ago and is known for the sterling quality of photographic work turned out by its patrons.

It has added a special line besides general work and that is the printing of old faded photos, family pictures fading away, for which there is quite a demand and is specially equipped to do.

Times change and the congested conditions down town were the main reason for moving a few blocks away, where in its own building, amidst pleasant and restful surroundings it is able to cater to its old and patrons in a much more satisfactory manner, the same old way of work prevailing. You will find plenty of space and can park as you like.

Many of the babies photographed a year ago are now grown and promising active citizens and many young couples enjoy the family life all are striving for.

conference between the two Houses of Congress. He began with proposition that there has been much secrecy in the framing of measure from the beginning. He ended with the proposition that the people have a perfect right to know their interests are being handled by their representatives in the Congress.

And in both instances he was in the right. The fact that he won the fight is not so significant as the fact that he finally won it.

It comes about that the only city during the many months of tinkering will come through the hands of the leader of the minority.

The mere fact that this decision to the people know what their representatives are doing is considered a break "tradition" indicates how far argument has been drifting away from the people in recent years.

Mr. Briscoe says. The Devine Creamery has distributed a large quantity of peanuts for planting over in the Lytle Benton section largely; we did not get the acreage. Adams

Enough for Two

GOOD things come in small packages. And if you have looked over the list of good things that come in the new small can, you will agree. Whether you are a bachelor or bachelor girl, newlyweds, long-weds, or off-weds—you know the satisfaction of having just enough of just the right thing, and no waste.

Forty-Three Foods

That is the long-felt need which the 8-ounce can fulfills. And so popular has it become, in its brief time on the market that already forty-three different foods are so packed—and more to come. The bachelor girl in her kitchenette apartment opens the buffet, or 8-ounce can of prepared spaghetti and finds it just enough for the main-dish of her lunch. The woman with a family opens the 8-ounce can of mushrooms and finds it the correct amount to add to her chicken a la King. The bachelor opens a can of fruit cocktail and finds it the perfect proportion to add to—well, anything he likes.

Here is the list of the famous forty-three. Pass them on your order memorandum so you can ask your grocer about the various brands of each.

Apple sauce, apricots, artichoke hearts, asparagus, beans, beets, blackberries, brown bread, Brussels sprouts, carrots (plain and with peas), cherries (black or red pitted), corn (golden bantam, white or kennelettes, or popping), cranberry sauce, figs, fruits for salad, fruit cocktail, grapefruit, grapes, kraut, loganberries, mackerel, molasses, mushrooms, olives, peaches (halves, sliced or diced), pears (diced or halves), peas, pineapple (crushed, tidbits or juice), plums, prunes (stewed or fresh), raspberries (red or black), rhubarb, sauer-kaut, spaghetti, shrimp, spinach, strawberries, succotash (with white corn, golden bantam, or with green lima), tomatoes, tomato sauce, turnips, vegetables for salad, vegetable surprise.*

Co. reports selling 8000 pounds of broomcorn and as many pea seeds. It looks like about 5000 acres in broomcorn and as much in peas and peanuts; while the corn acreage is very large. More land in cultivation than for several years; and every thing looks fine and promises with a few more showers at the right time, early and bumper crops. There is a big acreage in Irish potatoes and beans on the irrigated lands and some are already harvesting potatoes, from January planting. There is also a big acreage in melons, east and south from town, and back towards Anchorage.

MRS. REBECCA LOVE.

Mrs. Rebecca Love, 76, beloved wife of Hugh Love, Sr., died at the family home, near Biry, Saturday evening, after an illness of several days, following a failure of health of long standing. Besides the husband, she is survived by twelve children, 18 grand children and 31 great-grandchildren. The children are William, James, John, Hugh, Ham, and Tiny Love, the daughters are Mrs. Lula Williams, Devine; Mrs. Sam Beason, San Antonio; Mrs. R. L. Nations, Somerset; Mrs. Louis Biry, Biry; Mrs. Alice Littleton and Miss Vic Love of Biry. Among the grand children are C. O. Williams and Mrs. Myrtle Johnson of Devine.

Deceased was born in Upshur County, Texas about 1854; lived at Jeddo until 1885, when the family moved to the old home near Biry, where they have lived for forty-five years. The funeral Sunday afternoon was very large, literally hundreds of people from both the Biry and Black Creek communities, and many from Devine, Hondo, San Antonio, Somerset and other places came.

The Editor of The News conducted the funeral, assisted by the local pastor, Rev. H. D. Martin, Rev. W. N. Roberts of Devine and Rev. J. D. Roberts of Somerset. The speaker used as his subject, "Mother, Home and Heaven" closing with the beautiful poem of Edgar Guest, "Mother Finds Rest." The pall bearers were five grandsons and a special friend: C. O. Williams, Tiny Love, Mac Love, Ernest Hardt, Barney Moss and Oliver Burns. The grave was literally piled with beautiful floral offerings.

Deceased was a long time faithful member of the Black Creek Baptist church, and the services were to have ANOTHER BIG GASSER STRUCK NEAR LAKE.

Pearson No. 3, near Chicon Lake, on San Antonio Suburban Irrigated Farms, 100 feet northeast of the wild gasser brought in last month, has been saved as a gasser; and it is given out that company officials will make plans for using the gas on the irrigated farms and the Valley towns of Natalia, Devine and Lytle. The plan suggested, and currently discussed is to run a six inch pipe line to Natalia, three or four miles, thence in a four inch line to Devine and Lytle. Farm houses along the line could be connected; and two inch lines sent out to supply the farm houses on the lands, as needed. This seems to be a very feasible plan of giving gas to the towns that have been waiting for gas to be found nearer than the Adams gas field, a few miles west from the Chicon Lake new field. No doubt other wells will be sunk, and the field will assume larger proportions and importance. Fortunately it is in the hands of men interested in developing the entire country. Head men of the Suburban Irrigated Farms have been on the scene several days this week and we understand that some fancy prices have been offered for royalties, leases, etc., thereabout.

Accident Tournery Odds Up on Silver-proof Glass

Milk Fed Pedestrians Bring Good Prices

By E. W. Melson

DOUBLE BREASTED suits of cast iron, lined with chrome sole leather, will be worn by the well dressed motorist this spring. We have had our ear to the ground. Paris advices decreeing knickers will be entirely ignored, if not openly snickered at, by the 26,634,210 car owners who will take the road this spring prepared to avenge dents in the radiator, abrasions of the fender and contusions of the gas tank, suffered in last year's road tourney.

The jousting this year will be very gay and jovial. Cars will be matched by weights, and all collisions will be carefully refereed by cheering spectators, selected for their agility, who will report round by round to the Workmen's Compensation Bureau. No head on gouging will be permitted except by cars equipped with scatter-proof glass and caterpillar tires. Armored tanks are taboo, except by agreement between the contestants. Tanks are too safe for the drivers and last year's accidents from this source were so low as to be laughable.

The prizes to be awarded by the casualty companies this year are about the same as last:

Complete Dislocation Right Elbow	$50.00
Partial Fracture Floating Rib	25.00
Well Mashed Toes (Large or Small)	12.50
Shin Bruises from Cranking	8.95
Kicked by Horse	4.75

Bookmakers are quoting heavy odds on cars equipped with scatter-proof glass. In last year's jousting many contestants were

Even the Hostess Enjoys These 2-Course Luncheons

By JOSEPHINE B. GIBSON
Director, Home Economics Dept.,
H. J. Heinz Company

THESE long winter months, with the children safely in school, offer an excellent opportunity for delightful entertaining. And instead of large dinners, or parties that tire you with preparations, it's much nicer to invite only a few friends for luncheon and pass the afternoon at cards or simple games.

The friends you entertain in this informal way do not expect an elaborate, heavy meal, though naturally you will wish to serve something exceptionally good, and a bit out of the ordinary. The answer is a two-course meal: one substantial dish, such as a salad, or a casserole of meat, fish, cheese or vegetables; and then an appetizing fruit salad, with cookies or plain cake for dessert. This is exactly the type of luncheon that any woman enjoys, and it may be served for any number of guests without inconvenience or worry.

Here are the menus for two such meals. When you see how simple they are to prepare and serve, you will want to have a "party" immediately!

Menu I

Baked Oysters—Mexican Style
Fluffy Rice Flake Muffins
Sweet Dill Pickles Sliced
Apple Butter Custard Pie
Coffee

Mints

Menu II
Chow Mein with Rice
Fresh Cucumber Relish Hot Rolls
Pineapple, Prune and Marshmallow Salad

Cookies Coffee

Baked Oysters, Mexican Style—To 1/2 cup tomato ketchup add 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/4 teaspoon salt, and a dash of pepper. Place one quart large oysters in a buttered casserole or baking dish, cover with the ketchup mixture, sprinkle with 1/2 cup grated American cheese, and dot over with 1 tablespoon butter. Bake in a moderate oven until the cheese is melted, and serve very hot with generous slices of sweet dill pickle.

Apple Butter Custard Pie—Line a pan with pie crust. Beat 2 eggs thoroughly, add 6 tablespoons sugars, and 1 cup apple butter. Then add 1 cup milk, mix thoroughly, and pour into the pan lined with crust. Bake in a moderate oven until the custard is firm.

Rice Flake Muffins—1 cup rice flakes; 1/2 teaspoon salt; 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 egg, 1 cup flour; 1/4 cup sugar; 1/2 cup milk; 1 tablespoon melted butter.

Sift flour, salt, baking powder, and sugar. Add rice flakes, which have been crushed with rolling pin. Add milk to beaten egg, and mix into dry ingredients with a fork. Add melted butter and bake for fifteen minutes in moderate oven in well buttered muffin tins.
